

ABSTRACT

A photonic crystal structure includes a microcavity (point defect). The photonic crystal structure (or just the microcavity) is doped with materials that exhibit electromagnetic induced transparency (EIT) so as to increase the non-linear properties of the 5 photonic crystal.